

THE STATE OF WISCONSIN.

Executive Department.

A PROCLAMATION.

In compliance with a praiseworthy custom, and to commemorate the heroic life of the patriot, I, Jeremiah M. Rusk, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby recommend to the people of this state, that on Wednesday, the Thirtieth day of May they assemble in their usual places and duly do honor to the patriot dead, decorate their graves with flowers, and recount the deeds of valor of the departed soldiers and sailors, and thereby learn lessons of loyalty, and renew the bonds of fidelity to the Nation's good.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed.

Done at the City of Madison, [GREAT SEAL] this fourteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and eighty-three.

J. M. RUSK, Governor.

By the Governor: ERNEST G. ZIMMEL, Secretary of State.

Just before Mrs. Ann V. Landstreet died in Baltimore, on Sunday, she shook hands with forty-seven great-grand children.

The age of miracles will have returned when the democratic party gets so far advanced as to secure the confidence of the people.

The New York Age was not far out of the way when it said that the democratic campaign was made up of twenty-seven generals and thirteen privates.

The tallest house in the world will be built this season in New York. It will be 171 feet high—ten stories—and will be built for tenements, accommodating 38 families.

Secretary of State Timme announces that the official vote for judge in the new fourteenth circuit is as follows: S. D. Hastings, Jr., 2,327; J. C. Neville, 1,870; scattering, 21.

We hope Mr. Conkling will not think that this country has been set back ten years because General Grant was not elected president of the society of the old army of the Potomac.

Tornadoes are still at work in the west and southwest. They come frequently and do an alarming amount of damage. Texas and Nebraska are the latest victims, and suffered much destruction of property.

The lawyers have done an immense amount of talking in the Dunn-Elliott murder case in Chicago, and the end is not yet. A verdict will hardly be given this week. There is scarcely any doubt as to the result.

There is always something coming up to perplex, frighten, and defeat the democratic party. First it was rebellion; then reconstruction; then the soft money craze; then frauds and shotguns in the south; then the frauds of 1876; and now comes free trade.

Governor Butler is having a double feast. It not only affords him much happiness to be governor of Massachusetts, but it gives him intense pleasure to have the newspapers attack him so vigorously. Either always did like that kind of advertising.

The Chicago Times remarks that if the American hog is an animal of any spirit it will bring a libel suit against the North German Gazette, which asserts that the danger of contracting trichinosis from American pork is sixty times greater than it is from German pork.

When a republican begins to complain about the ingratitude of his party and to predict that the party will be defeated next year, you may guess that he is not far from the democratic fold. Mr. Conkling should talk less unless he can hear under the line.

The shotgun—a weapon which fills such an important place in Kentucky society—has triumphed in that state. Congressman Thompson who killed Davis, has been acquitted, and "thank God!" he exclaimed, "Kentucky wives can now be protected." Kentucky is bound to stand by the shot gun.

When the Hon. Charles L. Colby made the address of welcome to the young men's christian association in Milwaukee, he said one thing which is well worth remembering: "It is one thing, to be a Christian business man who carries his religion into his business, and another thing to be a Christian business man who carries his business into his religion."

Mrs. Langley, of Algona, Iowa, is a very thoughtful woman. She went to a millinery shop in that town the other day and bought a complete mourning outfit. She said her husband was very sick, and the doctor thought he could hardly recover, "and then you know," she said, "that these things come in handy when our needs them and it is a hurry for them."

Next week the much advertised railway exposition will begin in Chicago. There will be an interesting exhibition of railway appliances. There will be locomotives, cars, running gear, interior furnishings for passenger cars, and freight car appliances. Wood-working and iron-working are another department, track goods a third, and a fourth, stations, office appointments, lamps and water-station appliances, a fifth, oil, varnish, and paint a sixth, machinery a seventh, and street-railway appliances an eighth. It is said that the first locomotive ever built in this country—and that by Peter Cooper—will be on exhibition.

Mrs. Cynthia Francis, of Madison, celebrated her one hundredth birthday on the 14th. She was born in Hancock, Massachusetts, May 14th, 1783, immediately after the close of the American revolutionary war. She was the oldest in a family of seven children, the youngest of whom, a brother, is still living. In 1799, she married, in Washington died, was the year, being at the time but sixteen years of age. That she has lived so long since this important event, is a potent argument in favor of early marriages. Mrs. Francis has seven children, three of whom, two sons and a daughter, are still living. For forty years past the old lady has resided with her daughter, Mrs. Colonel Morton. Her first husband died seventy years ago, and her second forty-three years ago. She is physically rugged still, does general housework for her daughter, and walks a half-mile with ease. Up to a few months ago she read without glasses.

There was a good deal of feeling shown at the meetings of the society of the army of the Potomac, when the election of the president took place. General Grant was a candidate, but the society, by a vote of 155 elected Major-General John Newton, of New York, its president for the coming year over General Grant, the latter receiving 117 votes. The scattering votes were five for General Safford, one for General Miles and one for General Robinson. General Newton's election was made unanimous, and, with the exception of the president, the old officers were re-elected. Of course General Grant's friends were much disappointed. But the time has come when the general cannot get everything he or his friends want. Those who voted against him at the society meeting, have the deepest respect for him, but they are beginning to feel that such honors as they have to dispose of at the meetings of the army of the Potomac, should be passed around among those who are altogether worthy of them, and Grant's special admirers and supporters both in season and out of season, should take no offense at this course.

The June number of the North American Review opens with an article by Joseph Nimmio, Jr., chief of the treasury bureau of statistics, on "American Manufacturing Interests," in which is given a singularly full and instructive historical sketch of the rise and progress of manufactures in the United States, together with a very effective presentation of their present condition, and of the agency of tariff legislation in promoting diversified industries and encouraging the inventive genius of the people. Should this author's advocacy of protective legislation prove distasteful, the reader finds the needed corrective in an article by the Hon. Wm. M. Springer, on "Incidental Tariff," which is an argument for free trade. D. C. Gilman, president of Johns Hopkins university, writes of the "Present Aspects of College Training," as effected by the increase of wealth and luxury, the development of natural science, and the influence of a larger religious liberty. Edward Self presents some weighty considerations on the "Abuse of Citizenship," as exhibited in the machinations of the dynamitists against a friendly power, in disregard of the obligations of American neutrality. Prof. Isaac L. Rice criticises some of "Herbert Spencer's Facts and Inferences" in social and political science, and Christine Nilsson contributes "A Few Words about Public Singing." Finally, there is a symposium on "The Moral Influence of the Drama," the participants being, on the one side, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, well known as an opponent of the stage, and on the other, John Gilbey, the actor; A. M. Palmer, theatrical manager; and William Winter, dramatic critic. 50 cents a number; $5 a year. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York.

The international convention of the Young men's christian association which is now being held in Milwaukee, shows what a deep interest prevails among the representatives of that order. About seven hundred delegates are present, and they come from every state in the Union and from the British Provinces. The association is one of the most influential religious organizations in this country. It was organized in the early part of the war, and began with but few members. But its mission was so important and its purposes so high in religious tone, that marvelous things quickly resulted from its organization. It went on from one degree of success to another until its mighty influence permeated every state, every city and almost every town. Its membership increased by the tens of thousands, and its influence became as grand as its numerical strength was great. It did not confine its work solely to preaching and to holding prayer-meetings, but it was more humanitarian than that. The large-hearted men, and the good earnest and practical women, who were the chief movers in this great work, found thousands of young men who were without homes and their influence, and they gave them food, a cordial welcome, a room where they could find the best books and papers to read; they gave them food when they were hungry, a bed when they had no where to lay their heads, and work when they were without support. All this has the Young men's christian association done, and its work has not yet been finished.

DUCKED HER.

A Western Young Man Takes a Novel Way of Punishing His Best Girl.

A New York Mother's Crime—Blood on the Political Moon in the South.

MADISON, Wis., May 18.—A press correspondent visited Waterloo, twenty-five miles east of here, to learn more of the charges preferred by Miss Clara Voight against Joseph Thomas. Clara charges Voight with attempting to drown her. Her statement in brief is: "Thomas called on me Saturday evening and desired me to walk with him. We quarreled a little about the promised marriage. Upon arriving at a mill pond about a mile from the village he locked arms with me, and we walked to a point on the bank of the pond near where some willows were growing. We stood here a few moments, when suddenly, without saying a word, he pushed me down the bank into the water, he following me, taking hold of me and holding me some seconds under the water. He then let me come to the surface, when I attempted to get a hold on the willows near by, but failed. He then held me under the water a second time, soon letting me come to the surface again. I tried again to grasp the willows, but failed as before. I was again held under the water, and allowed to come to the surface, but this time I got a firm hold on the willows and drew myself up on my feet, still standing in the water above my knees. After drawing myself up I screamed for help, when he grabbed me by the throat and began to choke me, at which time Mr. Lord and wife came up and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and a half west of town, and then turned back and went over to Doorman's mill-pond. After we left the railroad track we were followed by a person carrying a lantern, who kept about three rods behind me, and asked him what he was up to, and he released me and walked a few paces away, saying at the same time that I had jumped into the pond and that he was trying to save me. "I went out walking with Miss Voight Saturday evening. We walked up the track about twenty rods west of the large railroad bridge, about a mile and

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder is made from a mixture of pure, strength and wholesome. More economical than the ordinary kind, and it makes the best bread, cakes, pies, etc. It is sold in all grocery stores.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

There has never been an instance in which this sterling invigorant and anti-febrile medicine has failed to ward off the complaint, when taken in due season. It is a powerful tonic, and gives the system a new lease of life. It is sold in all grocery stores.

THE SUN
One Million in a Week.

Decidedly the most popular and profitable of all newspapers. It is sold in all grocery stores.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

CIRCUIT COURT, ROCK COUNTY
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

STATE OF WISCONSIN
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

BAKER'S CHOCOLATES
The best preparation of chocolate for medicinal purposes.

GRAVES
A mound, a stone and a violet:
A blue sea overhead:
A blue sea overhead:
A blue sea overhead:

PERKS OF TELEGRAPH LINE-MEN
To pursue the vocation of a telegraph repairer one must not be a weakling.

MISCELLANEOUS
AGENTS WANTED
CHECK CIGAR

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

CIRCUIT COURT, ROCK COUNTY
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

STATE OF WISCONSIN
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

BAKER'S CHOCOLATES
The best preparation of chocolate for medicinal purposes.

His Soul and His Silver.
"You ask me how I came to use it, I remember the story of the Scotchman who, on his deathbed, after a life of meanness, waited to make things all right with the Lord by leaving some money to him."

1882
Lake Michigan Bridged!
$2.50 to New York

Mr. Jones Tries to Stop a Cat Concert.
Jones has bought a revolver. The way it happened was this: There had been a cat concert in the neighborhood for the past week, making it impossible to sleep.

IN CIRCUIT COURT FOR ROCK COUNTY
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

STATE OF WISCONSIN
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

His Soul and His Silver.
"You ask me how I came to use it, I remember the story of the Scotchman who, on his deathbed, after a life of meanness, waited to make things all right with the Lord by leaving some money to him."

$30,000 FOR $2.
56th
COMMONWEALTH DISTRIBUTION CO.

APRIL DRAWING
1 Prize $30,000 100 prizes 100 each 10.00

1882
Lake Michigan Bridged!
$2.50 to New York

Mr. Jones Tries to Stop a Cat Concert.
Jones has bought a revolver. The way it happened was this: There had been a cat concert in the neighborhood for the past week, making it impossible to sleep.

IN CIRCUIT COURT FOR ROCK COUNTY
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

STATE OF WISCONSIN
In the matter of the estate of Henry W. R. R. deceased.

PRINTING.
If you want Billboards.
If you want Envelopes.
If you want "Dodgers."
If you want Stationery.

GO TO GAZETTE
Printing Company
PROPRIETORS OF THE
DAILY
WEEKLY & SEMI-WEEKLY
GAZETTE.

MISCELLANEOUS
STRIKING
Headlines

CHICAGO
Principal-Line
Chicago & North-Western

CHICAGO
Principal-Line
Chicago & North-Western

TUTT'S PILLS
A DISORDERED LIVER IS THE BANE
OF THE PRESENT GENERATION.

TUTT'S HAIR DYE
This remedy for the hair is a most valuable preparation.

MANHOOD
Samaritan
Cures and

Heath is Wealth
Dr. E. C. Webb's Nerve and Brain Tonic
A guaranteed specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, Convulsions, Fits, Nervous Neuralgia, Headache, Nervous Prostration, etc.

1883
Twenty-Five Years' Experience
TREATMENT
OF
Chronic Diseases
F. B. BREWER, M. D.

CONSULTATION, FREE.
No treatment given unless there are prospects of doing good. We use no remedies but those prepared by our own hands.

30 DAYS TRIAL
DR. DYE'S
VOLTAIC BELT

CHICAGO
Principal-Line
Chicago & North-Western

CHICAGO
Principal-Line
Chicago & North-Western

TUTT'S PILLS
A DISORDERED LIVER IS THE BANE
OF THE PRESENT GENERATION.

MANHOOD
Samaritan
Cures and

Heath is Wealth
Dr. E. C. Webb's Nerve and Brain Tonic
A guaranteed specific for Hysteria, Dizziness, Convulsions, Fits, Nervous Neuralgia, Headache, Nervous Prostration, etc.

1883
Twenty-Five Years' Experience
TREATMENT
OF
Chronic Diseases
F. B. BREWER, M. D.

CONSULTATION, FREE.
No treatment given unless there are prospects of doing good. We use no remedies but those prepared by our own hands.

30 DAYS TRIAL
DR. DYE'S
VOLTAIC BELT

CHICAGO
Principal-Line
Chicago & North-Western

CHICAGO
Principal-Line
Chicago & North-Western

TUTT'S PILLS
A DISORDERED LIVER IS THE BANE
OF THE PRESENT GENERATION.

MANHOOD
Samaritan
Cures and

THE GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, MAY 18.

The Daily and Weekly Gazette can be found on sale at the bookstores of James Sutherland & Sons, and R. W. King's.

Notice to Subscribers.

Subscribers to the DAILY GAZETTE who do not receive their paper regularly, will confer a favor by reporting omissions promptly at the Gazette counting room.

The Daily and Weekly Gazette can be found on sale at the bookstores of James Sutherland & Sons, and R. W. King's.

Ice cream at Evenson & Parker's.

M. C. Smith has this day received a large assortment of certain goods, consisting of Damasks, Algerian cloths in the piece; also, curtains by the pair; also, a magnificent assortment of lace curtains, at popular prices.

Ice cream at Evenson & Parker's.

Beware of Imitation Towels!—As usual, some of our merchants get to the front after the excitement is all over, and the wounded cared for. Some of them have just received an imitation towel, which they are holding up to the people as the genuine article. Again, we say, "Beware of Imitations!" Go to Bostwick & Sons, who are leaders in everything; and get the original and only Crepe Towel which has so long worried their neighbors.

If you wish to purchase prize embroidery, go to Mattie McCullagh & Co.'s.

Go to McKee & Bro's and see their large stock, and handsome patterns, in carpets.

Elegant line percales and chevrons for fine colored shirts, at Bostwick & Sons.

Go to Mattie McCullagh & Co.'s for the finest line of silk and kid gloves in the city.

Jensen's Jackets at Bostwick & Sons.

Mattie McCullagh & Co., have just received a fine assortment of corsets, bustles and skirts.

Hosiery—McKee & Bro. call the attention of the ladies to their immense lines of French and English hosiery.

The crepe towel run at Bostwick & Sons will never let you. They are cheap or than shelling. Get some, and you will ever regret it.

Ladies' muslin underwear at Bostwick & Sons, made on lock-stitch machine.

Silk waist linings cut and fit, all sizes, 50 cents only, at Archie Reid's.

Get some of the 4 cent sheeting at Bostwick & Sons before it is gone and prevent disappointment.

New line of Ottoman silks opened at McKee & Bro's.

Tampico corsets at Bostwick & Sons.

Big bargains before you at Bostwick & Sons. We have just opened up a large lot of spring and summer wraps. The styles are all new and prices clear under.

Parasols, sample corsets, dolmans, jackets and all kinds of fancy dry goods at wholesale prices at Archie Reid's.

Madras and Algerian curtain goods Bostwick & Sons.

Milinery—McKee & Bro. are receiving daily the very latest styles in all kinds of hats and trimmings.

Eight-cent calico for five cents at Bostwick & Sons.

Prices on all dry goods are cheapest at Archie Reid's.

All linen crash for 8 cents at Bostwick & Sons.

The largest stock of furniture ever in the city is at W. H. Ashcraft's, 22 West Milwaukee street.

Splendid sheeting at Bostwick & Sons for 6 1/2 cents.

For Sale Cheap—Two fine prairie farms two miles from Janesville city, one contains 120 and one 240 acres. If you want a splendid farm near the city don't let this opportunity pass.

H. H. BLANCHARD.

W. H. Ashcraft keeps on hand all sizes of the Jackson refrigerator which by a recent trial proved the best.

A great variety of shades in ready mixed paints of the very best quality. Call and get a can at Stearns & Baker's.

Dunbar's celebrated Bethesda water Stearns & Baker's sole agents.

To Rent—First house south of Central school, Enquire of J. F. Hart.

For Sale—The Winans homestead of 3 acres, on Milton avenue. Apply to John Winans.

Notice!

The Janesville Cotton Manufacturing Company, until further notice, will receive, at its office in this city, subscription for a new issue of its capital stock at par, payable in such installments as shall be required by its board of directors.

A. J. RAY, Secretary.

Janesville, March 15, 1883.

Ice! Ice! We will furnish ice during the coming season; delivered the same as heretofore, as follows: 25 pounds a day for the season, $5.00. All other amounts as low as sold by any other parties.

HOGBOOM & ATWOOD.

PAY UP.—All parties having unsettled bills with the Gazette Printing Co. previous to January 1, 1883, will please call at Gazette counting room during the month of May and pay the same, as all bills remaining unpaid will be left for collection. Michael Murphy is authorized to receipt bills on our name.

COLVIN & FARNSWORTH.

April 30, 1883.

PERSONAL: TO MEN ONLY!

The VOLTAGE BELL CO., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Dyer's CALCULATED ELECTRO-VOLTAGE BELL CO. for a full trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Loss of Vitality, Manhood and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above. No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed, and if cured, the balance is paid.

Reflections.

—Windy day, this!

—There was no criminal business before the municipal court to-day.

—The Iowa mover was at work in the lower end of the court house park to-day.

—Mr. A. P. Bennett has returned home from Dakota, where he has been the past two or three weeks overseeing improvements on his farm.

—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the Parker homestead, on South Jackson street, in the fourth ward, is offered for sale.

—Messrs. Phelps & Hanson, who have a shop over Wilson's blacksmith shop on River street, are now prepared to do all kinds of carpenter work in the best manner.

—The Galbraith brothers, have sold a half interest in their imported Clydesdale stallion Blackacre, to Mr. David Clark, of Mount Zion. The horse will be kept at Mount Zion.

—Mr. B. E. Clark, late of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, has taken the position of clerk in the Grand hotel. He brings to that position many years of valuable experience in hotel-keeping.

—The new gas light company are now laying a new four inch main in North Jackson street, which is to take the place of the old and smaller one, which the demands for more light in that locality require.

—Mr. P. G. Strickler, of this city, has resigned his position with the J. I. Case company, of Racine, and will hereafter devote his whole time in the interest of the celebrated Strickler Dead-Load hay carrier.

—The circuit court is engaged to-day trying the replevin case of Sullivan vs. Campbell. Messrs. Winous & Fethers are the attorneys for the plaintiff, and Messrs. D. F. Duwiddie and Wm. Smith for the defendant.

—Mr. L. E. Stevens, one of the live real estate men of Madison, and brother of Mr. F. L. Stevens, of the real estate firm of Campbell & Stevens, of this city, is looking over the Bower city to-day, the guest of his brother.

—The jury in the case of the Baggess steel and iron company vs. the Harris manufacturing company, returned a verdict for the plaintiff last evening, for the full amount, $1,363.11. The defendant's attorneys moved to set aside the verdict, and applied for a new trial.

—The indications are that Mrs. J. B. Day will have a crowded house to witness the entertainment by her class of pupils on Monday night, in Leppin's music hall. The program is a good one and all who attended will be amply repaid for time, and expense.

—Hon. Hiram Merrill was out riding around the city yesterday, being the first time he has been able to be out away from his home in ten months. He is now feeling first rate, and hopes to be out more in the future. He has almost recovered from his long illness.

—Everybody, almost, supposed that the celebrated case of Wilcox vs. Hemming, had been finally settled, but such is not the fact. The case was recently decided in the state supreme court against Wilcox, and now his attorneys are before that court with a motion for a re-hearing. This is the case growing out of the impounding of Wilcox's horses, the city conducting the suit for Hemming, the poundmaster. Who says Charley Wilcox is not game in a law suit?

—Yesterday the little eight year old daughter of Mr. Parker, who occupies apartments in the Ogden house block, met with a very serious accident, by which she suffered a severe cut in the arm. She was at the window watching some of her companions, when the window sash, in which was a broken light ball, the piece of broken glass striking her arm, cutting a deep and ugly wound between the elbow and wrist, and between the two bones of the arm. She was attended by Dr. W. H. Palmer, and is doing well.

—Smith & Slocum's Light Guard band was at Mount Morris, Illinois, last evening, for the purpose of playing for a dance. In the early evening between eight and nine o'clock, the telephone lines between this city, Beloit, Rockton, Roscos, Caladonia, Rockford, Peconton, Belvidere, Mount Morris and all the intervening telephone offices on the line, were connected, and the band at Mount Morris furnished some beautiful instrumental music, which was heard distinctly over the long line. The heard of offices along the line gave the band great applause at the conclusion of each piece of music. The "lipping in" of the different listeners on the line at various times during the evening, was quite comical, and furnished good amusement for those who had telephones to their own use. Many of the subscribers in this city were given the opportunity to hear the band.

The Weather.

REPORTED BY PRESTIGE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 62 degrees above zero. Cloudy—south wind. At 1 p. m. the register was 75 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy, with a light south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 56 and 73 degrees above zero.

WASHINGTON, May 18, 1 a. m.—The following are the indications for to-day:

Upper lake region and upper Mississippi valley—Cloudy rainy weather, warm, southerly shifting to colder northerly, with falling followed by rising barometer.

What is it Good For?

Let us tell you what Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is good for. It is death to rheumatism and neuralgia. It will cure a burn, bite, or pain, and is equally good for sprains.

Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Archer & Co.

The weak, worn, and dyspeptic should take GOLDEN'S LIQUOR BARS TONIC, Take no other.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Meeting of the Ladies' Committee Yesterday Afternoon.

The Appointment of the Different Sub-Committees.

The committee of ladies appointed by the executive committee having in charge the arrangements for the due observance of Memorial Day, met yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. M. D. McHenry, No. 39, North High street, according to appointment, and perfected their arrangements for the observance of the day.

The following names were credited to the several churches:

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Mrs. W. S. Chase, chairman; Mrs. C. B. Conrad, Mrs. Henry Palmer, Mrs. M. B. Leavitt, Mrs. C. C. McLean, Miss Carrie Hedge, Miss Jessie Dearborn, Mr. B. F. Duwiddie.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Mrs. D. J. Jeffris, chairman; Mrs. A. A. Jackson, Mrs. D. F. Davies, Miss A. Pratt, Miss C. Cutting, Miss Lizzie Little, Miss E. De Baun, Mr. Will Jeffris.

NORWEGIAN CHURCH.

Mrs. Paul Iversen, chairman; Mrs. L. Tralson, Mrs. C. Peterson, Miss Peterson, Mrs. M. Halverson, Miss Mary Hanson, Mr. Theodore Tralson.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Mrs. J. H. Kinney, chairman; Mrs. W. F. Brown, Mrs. J. B. Home, Mrs. B. Baldwin, Mrs. E. Ruger, Mrs. Michael Buob, Miss Susie Draper, Miss N. Gilmore, Mr. Frank Haselton.

COURT ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

Mrs. H. S. Hogboom, chairman; Mrs. M. M. Phelps, Mrs. H. F. Bliss, Mrs. A. J. Mead, Mrs. O. Curtis, Miss Carrie Raker, Miss Nellie Carle, Mr. N. H. Clark.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

Mrs. H. G. Arnold, chairman; Mrs. J. Tice, Mrs. Jas. Croft.

CHIST CHURCH.

Mrs. Wm. Rager, chairman; Mrs. Ed. Doty, Mrs. C. Atwood, Mrs. M. Pullen, Mrs. H. D. McKinney, Miss Franc Whitig, Miss A. Pease, Mr. S. W. Chishman.

ALL SOULS CHURCH.

Mrs. S. C. Guernsey, chairman; Mrs. R. W. King, Mrs. A. W. Baldwin, Miss Ida Harris, Miss M. Guernsey, Miss C. Pritchard, Miss M. Baldwin, Mr. Putnam.

GERMAN CHURCH.

Mrs. J. L. Schler, chairman.

TRINITY CHURCH.

Mrs. M. D. McHenry, chairman; Mrs. Horace Gatas, Mrs. E. G. Harlow, Mrs. Percy Norcross, Miss Ella Croft, Miss Hattie Dearborn, Miss Lizzie Grove, Mr. L. C. Bump.

CATHOLIC CHURCHES.

Mrs. R. L. Colvin, chairman St. Patrick's church; Mrs. M. C. Barron, chairman St. Mary's church; Mrs. Martin Dunn, Mrs. Patrick Riley, Miss M. Joyce, Miss Burns, Miss A. Dilzer, Miss L. Morrissey, Miss Labbe Foster, Mr. Richard Dunn.

The above committees are earnestly requested to solicit donations of flowers and have them sent to the place to be hereafter designated, on the morning of Memorial day. It is hoped that they will all endeavor to lend their aid in arranging flowers and emblems at the rooms on Memorial morning. A cordial invitation is extended to every citizen, old and young to come and help us. Evergreen crosses are to be prepared for each lowly mound, which involves much labor. The children are requested to gather wild flowers, arrange them in bouquets and bring them for those loyal men who "Died for me and you."

The following ladies were appointed to take charge of the decorating divisions: Mrs. H. G. Arnold, Mrs. E. J. Cannels, Miss Jessie Jeffris, Miss Gertrude Jones, Miss Jessie Dearborn, Miss Lizzie Grove, Miss Hattie Dearborn, Miss Lizzie Grove, Miss Hattie Dearborn, Miss Lizzie Grove.

Thirty young Misses are to be selected as decorators, daughters of the "Brave boys in blue," their uniform to be white dresses, blue tulle skirts, red stockings. The names of these young misses will be published next week.

The superintendents of the divisions are requested to meet at Mrs. M. D. McHenry's, No. 39 North High street, next Monday afternoon, May 21st, at four o'clock.

The list of names from the First Methodist and German churches are unavoidably incomplete, but this will be remedied at an early date.

Mrs. M. D. McHENRY, Chairman Ladies Committee.

A New Depot.

The work of building a new depot has commenced on the vacant triangular lot just west of the coal and wood yards of Messrs. Hogboom & Atwood, adjoining the long building belonging to C. T. Wilcox at the west end of West Milwaukee street. Many people down town asserted that the new depot was for the use of the C. B. & Q. railway, and that the road would be completed to this city in a few months. A representative of the Gazette bearing these rumors on streets, visited the spot, and there found the workmen busily engaged. In reply to an inquiry what the building was for, we were referred to Mr. Ranous, freight agent of the Northwestern railway, as the man who would probably know all about it; that gentleman being too busy at the time to unfold what he knew about the Burlington company and their new line, we were referred to Charley Atwood, and from him we learned that the new depot concerning the building that was reported by the Burlington company did not amount to anything, but that Messrs. Rowe & Stevens were building a new depot to be used by them in storing tobacco. The building will be a frame and is about 40x40 feet in size.

The New Tricycle.

This machine is propelled by steam and will carry two people twenty miles in an hour, it is said. It is quite an invention but does not compare with Burdock's Blood Bitters, which will carry the invalid along the road to health to beat all.

Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Archer & Co.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Important Meeting Held in the City Hall Last Evening.

The Power and Duty of the Health Officer.

The board of health of the city held their first meeting in the city hall last evening. The board is composed of the mayor, the health officer, and the senior alderman of each ward. They met pursuant to notice given by the city clerk, and the following members were present, His Honor, Mayor St. John, in the chair, Health Officer Dr. J. B. Whiting, and Aldermen Murdoch, Bachholz, Field, Lennartz, and Daly. Full board.

There was considerable discussion regarding the sanitary condition of the city, in which all the members expressed their views.

Health Officer Whiting called the attention of the board to the many nuisances which are a source of disease, particularly the open vaults and hog-pens. He also made special mention of the unhealthy condition of that portion of block 34 original plat of the village of Janesville, in the rear of the Ogden house property.

On motion of Ald. Daly the following order was adopted:

Ordered by the Board of Health of the City of Janesville:

That the health officer be and is hereby authorized and ordered, to order the destruction, abatement, or removal of any substance or thing offensive to the smell, or which does or may endanger the health or comfort of the inhabitants of said city; and the health officer is hereby authorized and ordered to order the cleaning or removal of any hog pen or privy vault or any other place or thing which may be offensive to the smell or detrimental to the public health or comfort.

The health officer shall give notice in writing to the owner or occupant of any lot, building or place where any substance or thing mentioned in this order may exist, requiring such owner or occupant to remove, abate, destroy or cleanse the same within such time as the health officer shall deem proper.

Any person who shall refuse or neglect to obey any such order of the health officer within the time mentioned in the notice served upon him, shall pay a penalty of not more than five dollars nor less than one dollar.

The board then adjourned.

The Mutual Protection Association.

There is one institution in the city that we would call the attention of the public to and that is the "Mutual Protection Association of Wisconsin," home office, Janesville, Wis. At the recent election of officers M. C. Smith was re-elected president; James Menzies, vice president; Henry Palmer, medical director; S. C. Cobb, treasurer and J. G. Saxe, secretary and general manager. The object of the association is to furnish a sum of money to the families or friends of a deceased member at his or her death.

Already a goodly number have availed themselves of the splendid opportunity offered to obtain life insurance at a nominal cost to the assured. The city will be canvassed for members and it is hoped that every citizen who can become members will join and thus secure good indemnity in case of death and also help to build up an institution in our midst that will be a credit to our city and state. Agents will canvass this and adjoining counties to obtain risks among the farmers, and we would urge all when in the city to call at the home office in Smith's block, and the secretary will give you all information desired and cost of membership. There has been but three deaths in the association since its organization in March, 1876. The outlook for the association is very favorable and everything will be done that can be to make it one of the best institutions of the kind in the country. Good reliable agents wanted.

The June Races.

The June meeting of turfmen, which is to take place in this city on the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th of June, promises to be a great success. As the time approaches for the meeting it becomes more and more evident that we shall have one of the best meetings of the kind ever held in this city. The local officers of the association are quietly at work arranging all the details, that all those who visit this city on that occasion will have an opportunity to see some of the best horses in the country, and that the local arrangements for the Janesville part of the great June circuit will, in magnitude be second to no other meeting in the state. The track, if the weather permitting, will be in capital order, and all other arrangements in and about the grounds will be in the best possible shape and order. The entries for the races have already commenced. Mr. Huseck, of Marengo, Illinois, has arrived here with two fine horses which are to be put in the races, and Hon. J. I. Case, of Racine, has entered three of his fine bred steppers.

The local officers here are arranging to have a new feature added to the amusement part of the meeting, it being no less than a balloon race between a couple of well known aeronauts. The committee are now in correspondence with the parties, and in all probability arrangements will be made for a race between two large air ships during the trotting meeting here.

The large illuminated posters have been received and posted about the city announcing the particulars of the meeting and the races to take place.

There is not the least doubt that the June meeting will be a success in every particular.

Please Notice.

All accounts due the Gazette Printing company for subscription, advertising, or job work, since the first day of January 1883, should be paid only to the present management. Persons indebted to the office should remember this.

GAZETTE PRINTING CO.

Monaghan's New Store.

Mr. John Monaghan has removed his stock of boots and shoes to the old Continental store on the West side of Main street, next door to Archie Reid's. The store is a handsome and a commodious one, and shows his stock to a splendid advantage. He is receiving new goods which embrace all the latest styles in all the various grades, while the prices are exceedingly reasonable. He has also a repairing department in which all work is done neatly and promptly. Mr. Monaghan will have something to say to-morrow to the readers of the Gazette, which will more particularly the extent and quality of his fine stock of boots and shoes.

Erecting Grave Stones.

Yesterday afternoon about forty members of the W. H. Sargent put up twenty headstones at the graves of the deceased soldiers in the cemeteries in this city. A full description of these stones—furnished by the government—has already been given in the Gazette. There are a few other graves not yet supplied with these stones, but the stones will be procured in a short time and placed at the graves.

Would Have Been Set Upon.

Had not Burdock's Blood Bitters been a remedy of unquestionable merit they would have been set down upon by the public as thousands of medicines have been when their worthless character was discovered. Burdock's Blood Bitters have received unbounded praises from the sick thus establishing their merit beyond dispute. Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Archer & Co.

A Juvenile Horse Thief.

Late yesterday afternoon Marshal Nels arrested a boy, about fifteen years old, who was trying to sell a horse for $20 (the animal being worth three times that sum), on suspicion that the boy had stolen the horse. The boy told an unreasonable story, and said he lived in Janesville, and if the officer would let him go there he could clear himself of the charge. Marshal North accordingly sent Officer Graves to Janesville with the lad, to look up the case, and there it was learned that the boy's name was Charley Green, and that he lived at Janesville and that the horse which he had offered for sale in this city belonged to Wm. Rager, Esq. That gentleman had left his horse and buggy in the street, and young Green had driven the rig away, unlocking the horse from the buggy between this city and Janesville, and pushed the buggy and harness into the river, hiding them from view under the water. Officer Graves brought the boy back to Beloit and North locked him up. He will be taken to Janesville to-day for an examination.

Mr. Rager, the owner of the rig, came after it this morning. Mr. Ringer is the county surveyor.

The boy's father was in the city last night. The boy had a dark lantern in his possession. When arrested and until identified by Janesville people, he stoutly maintained that his name was not Green. —Beloit Free Press.

The Free Press

Constable Graves and tell that official's story of his travels through Rock county on Wednesday night under the guidance of the juvenile horse thief.

Stockholder's Meeting.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Rock county agricultural society will be held at the court house on Saturday, May 26th, at 2 p. m., to arrange the premium list and details for the fair in October. Let every stockholder as well as all friends of the society be present as the society desire the co-operation of all whether stockholders or not to make the coming fair the best ever held.

W. T. VAN KIRK, Secretary.

R. T. PEMBERTON, President.

Old papers for sale at the Gazette counting room.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, EREM OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City. oct1883

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, MAY 18.—A. P. M.

REPORTED FOR THE GAZETTE BY A. L. DROWN, REPRESENTATIVE, KENT & CO., OF CHICAGO, OFFICE, KELLOGG'S BLOCK.

ARTICLES.	OPENING.	CLOSING.
No. 2 Hogs, White	$1.00	$1.00
May	$1.00	$1.00
July	$1.00	$1.00
Aug.	$1.00	$1.00
Sept.	$1.00	$1.00
Oct.	$1.00	$1.00
Nov.	$1.00	$1.00
Dec.	$1.00	$1.00
Jan.	$1.00	$1.00
Feb.	$1.00	$1.00
Mar.	$1.00	$1.00
Apr.	$1.00	$1.00
May	$1.00	$1.00
June	$1.00	$1.00
July	$1.00	$1.00
Aug.	$1.00	$1.00
Sept.	$1.00	$1.00
Oct.	$1.00	$1.00
Nov.	$1.00	$1.00
Dec.	$1.00	$1.00
Jan.	$1.00	$1.00
Feb.	$1.00	$1.00
Mar.	$1.00	$1.00
Apr.	$1.00	$1.00
May	$1.00	$1.00
June	$1.00	$1.00
July	$1.00	$1.00
Aug.	$1.00	$1.00
Sept.	$1.00	$1.00
Oct.	$1.00	$1.00
Nov.	$1.00	$1.00
Dec.	$1.00	$1.00
Jan.	$1.00	$1.00
Feb.	$1.00	$1.00
Mar.	$1.00	$1.00
Apr.	$1.00	$1.00
May	$1.00	$1.00
June	$1.00	$1.00
July	$1.00	$1.00
Aug.	$1.00	$1.00
Sept.	$1.00	$1.00
Oct.	$1.00	$1